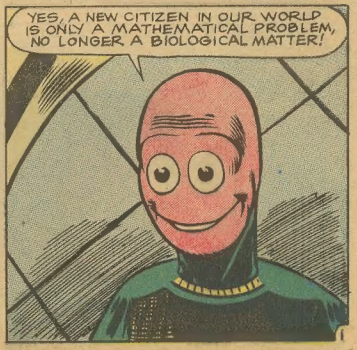
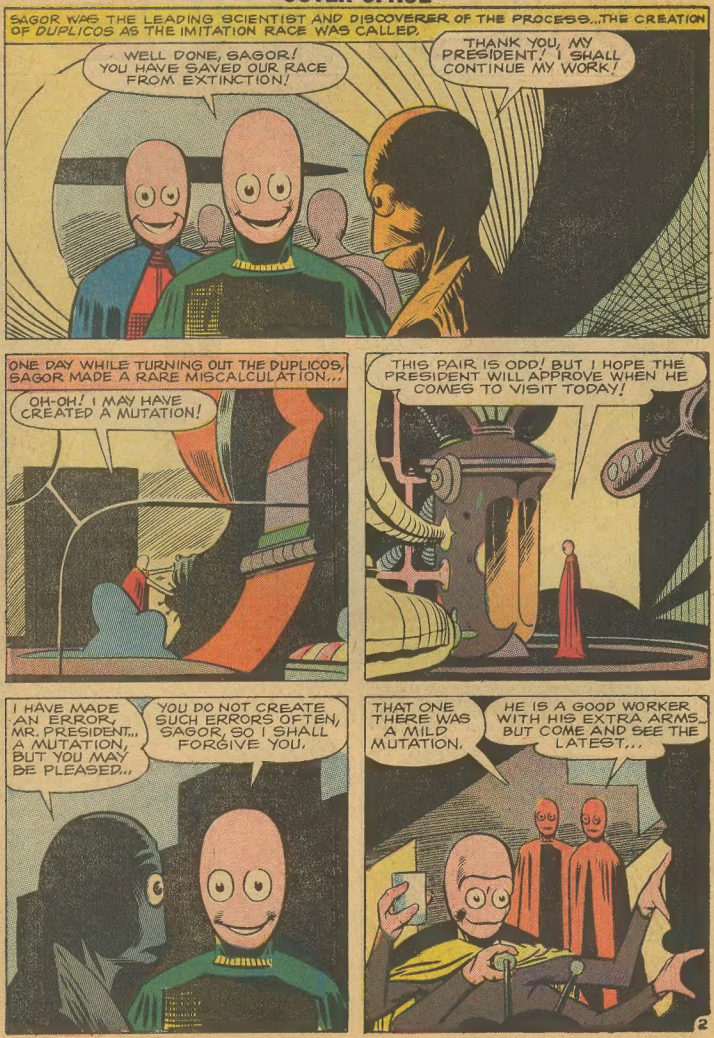
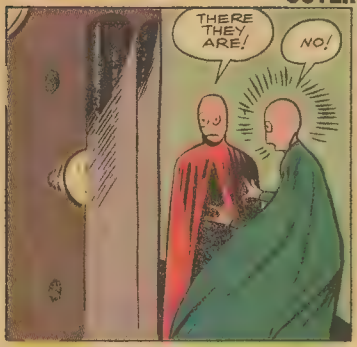
WHAT A TREMENDOUS SCIENCE WE HAVE! SINCE THE NUCLEAR WARS HAVE CAUSED OUR PEOPLES TO CEASE DUPLICATION OF THEMSELVES, NATURE'S FUNCTIONS HAVE BEEN REPLACED BY CHEMICAL AND MACHINE-MADE CREATURES, THAT ARE EXACTLY LIKE US!

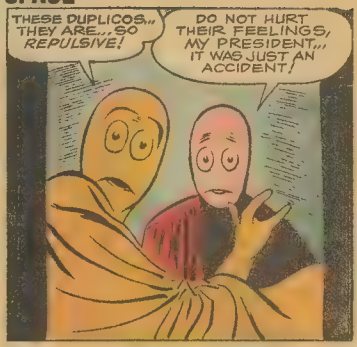




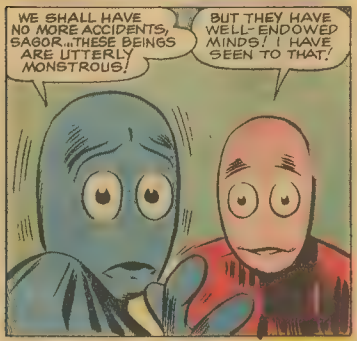
SAGOR WAS THE LEADING SCIENTIST AND DISCOVERER OF THE PROCESS...THE CREATION OF DUPLICOS AS THE IMITATION RACE WAS CALLED.
WELL DONE, SAGOR! YOU HAVE SAVED OUR RACE FROM EXTINCTION!
THANK YOU, MY PRESIDENT! I SHALL CONTINUE MY WORK!
ONE DAY WHILE TURNING OUT THE DUPLICOS, SAGOR MADE A RARE MISCALCULATION...
OH-OH! I MAY HAVE CREATED A MUTATION!
THIS PAIR IS ODD! BUT I HOPE THE PRESIDENT WILL APPROVE WHEN HE COMES TO VISIT TODAY!
I HAVE MADE AN ERROR, MR. PRESIDENT... A MUTATION, BUT YOU MAY BE PLEASED...
YOU DO NOT CREATE SUCH ERRORS OFTEN, SAGOR, SO I SHALL FORGIVE YOU.
THAT ONE THERE WAS A MILD MUTATION.
HE IS A GOOD WORKER WITH HIS EXTRA ARMS... BUT COME AND SEE THE LATEST...



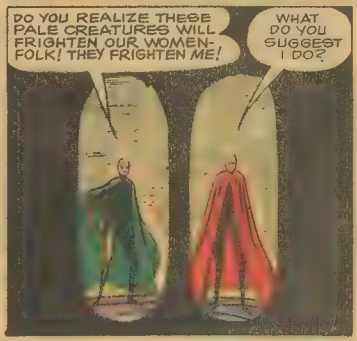
THERE THEY ARE!
NO!



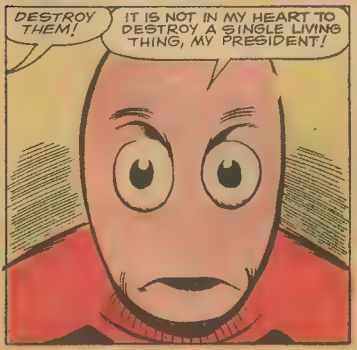
THESE DUPLICOS... THEY ARE... SO REPULSIVE!
DO NOT HURT THEIR FEELINGS, MY PRESIDENT... IT WAS JUST AN ACCIDENT!



WE SHALL HAVE NO MORE ACCIDENTS, SAGOR... THESE BEINGS ARE UTTERLY MONSTROUS!
BUT THEY HAVE WELL-ENDOWED MINDS! I HAVE SEEN TO THAT!

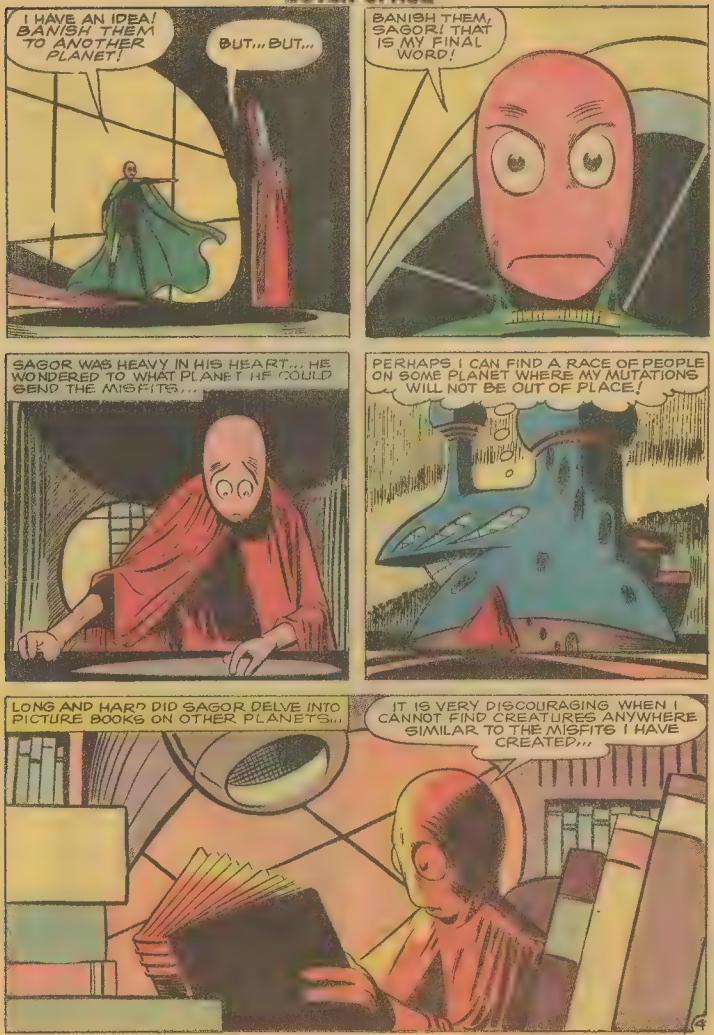


DO YOU REALIZE THESE PALE CREATURES WILL FRIGHTEN OUR WOMENFOLK! THEY FRIGHTEN ME!
WHAT DO YOU SUGGEST I DO?

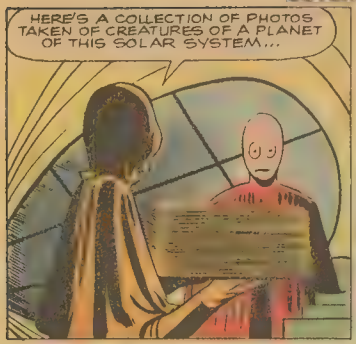


DESTROY THEM!
IT IS NOT IN MY HEART TO DESTROY A SINGLE LIVING THING, MY PRESIDENT!

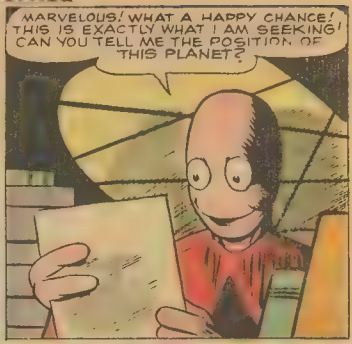
WELL, DO SOMETHING... ANYTHING! BUT GET RID OF THEM!



I HAVE AN IDEA! BANISH THEM TO ANOTHER PLANET!
BUT... BUT...
BANISH THEM, SAGOR! THAT IS MY FINAL WORD!
SAGOR WAS HEAVY IN HIS HEART... HE WONDERED TO WHAT PLANET HE COULD SEND THE MISFITS...
PERHAPS I CAN FIND A RACE OF PEOPLE ON SOME PLANET WHERE MY MUTATIONS WILL NOT BE OUT OF PLACE!
LONG AND HARD DID SAGOR DELVE INTO PICTURE BOOKS ON OTHER PLANETS...
IT IS VERY DISCOURAGING WHEN I CANNOT FIND CREATURES ANYWHERE SIMILAR TO THE MISFITS I HAVE CREATED...

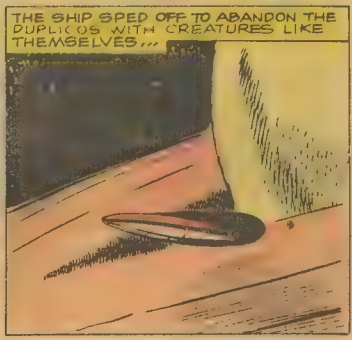


HERE'S A COLLECTION OF PHOTOS TAKEN OF CREATURES OF A PLANET OF THIS SOLAR SYSTEM...

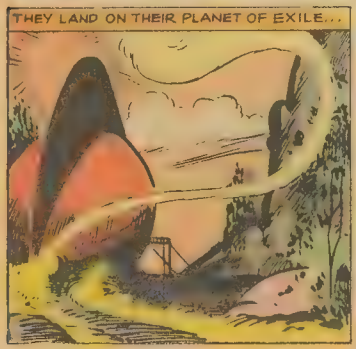


MARVELOUS! WHAT A HAPPY CHANCE! THIS IS EXACTLY WHAT I AM SEEKING! CAN YOU TELL ME THE POSITION OF THIS PLANET?

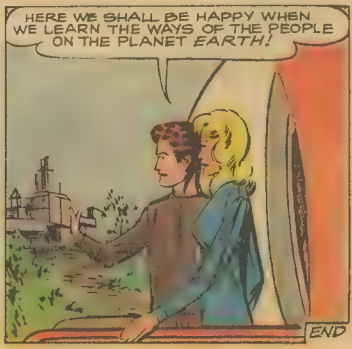
WHEN SAGOR HAD LEARNED, HE MOVED THE MISFITS TO A REMOTE-CONTROLLED SPACESHIP
IT IS FORTUNATE YOU HAVE FOUND A PLANET TO SEND THEM TO, SAGOR!



THE SHIP SPED OFF TO ABANDON THE DUPLICOS WITH CREATURES LIKE THEMSELVES...



THEY LAND ON THEIR PLANET OF EXILE...



HERE WE SHALL BE HAPPY WHEN WE LEARN THE WAYS OF THE PEOPLE ON THE PLANET EARTH!

POOR PENNIES

Captain Stephen Russell can best be described as a "career man" in our police department. He came to our city about nine years ago. He had studied criminology and psychology at the State University. His first task was in the Commissioner's office. He worked his way up until he had become co-ordinator of the various activities in the police department. He was in charge of the police magazine, the issuing of pistol permits to civilians and the youth board.

I guess you might say that it was only natural that we would meet. I did a syndicated column for the Trans-Oceanic Corporation entitled, "Youth's Yearnings." That brought me in a good income. In addition, I was the special feature reporter for the county newspaper. Captain Russell and his wife, Tessie, would visit us at our large home near Crestfield. My three children liked him very much and he would go swimming with them in our pool.

On this particular Tuesday morning I visited him in his office.

"Thanks a lot, Dave," he began. "That article you wrote about improvements in the pension fund is excellent. I understand that the Governor is going to act favorable on it at the next meeting our group has with him in the state capital."

We talked about other things and then he opened the morning edition of the newspaper.

"I see they are going to have a special supplement at the end of the month. You are going to do an unusual story based on true facts."

"That's a brain storm of the publisher," I explained. "He said I ought to be able to come up with a true, weird, unusual, strange story. And you know the publisher. He also happens to be my father-in-law. So how could I say no to him? The only trouble is that I haven't, as yet, found the story."

"Then perhaps I can help," suggested Captain Russell. "There certainly are strange things that happen in this world. For some of them we find satisfactory explanations. For others, we try to figure out the reasons. And for some, I guess we never get a suitable answer.

Ever hear of Luigi Camponolo? Don't answer, because the chances are you didn't. He lived back in the 16th century in Venice. He was a rich nobleman who enjoyed writing about the political and social problems of his day. He wrote in Latin as well as in Italian. There is a short study of his which, in English, can best be translated as 'Considerations on Crime.'

Count Camponolo had a very unusual theory about crime. He claimed that the normal state of nature was that of honesty and decency. And that whenever a crime was committed, nature herself would object. The particular weapon used in crime, he claimed, would also object. As well as the object of the crime. He gave a few illustrations.

An assassin was hired to kill a certain man. The assassin crept behind the man. Then he started to take out his dagger from the scabbard in which it was kept, but he couldn't get the dagger out! And so he was captured and the crime wasn't committed. In another illustration he tells about a thief who stole a horse. Then he mounted the animal and started to go to another town. The horse stumbled, the thief was thrown against a rock, and that was his end."

"Look," I interrupted, "That certainly can be turned into something unusual. What's your reaction to his theory?"

Call me neutral," said Captain Russell. "You want your story. I was going through some old files in the basement. We have to get rid of them. We are going to install more lockers down there. So I went through the records quickly, to see if there were any we needed and most of them were about a quarter of a century old.

Then I stumbled right onto a case that might fit into Count Camponolo's theory. Of course you can get some other reasons to explain what happened. But the important thing is that the situations involved are rather unusual. Want to listen further?"

"All ears," I replied. "Too bad I haven't my portable tape recorder with me. But go ahead. They say I have a photographic memory. I'll remember the details."

"We can call the three fellows involved in this case, Jim, Lou and Bob. No last names. You make them up for your story. They didn't like the idea of hard work. They felt the world didn't understand nor appreciate their various talents. They wanted some quick easy way of making a lot of money.

They would talk about a lot of plans. They could go to South Africa and look for diamonds, or to Australia and find some gold mine, or go after Captain Kidd's treasure. Now mind you, they just weren't youths. What they were doing was trying to find, in daydreaming, an escape from the reality of life: You have to work too hard to make a living. But hard honest work never did harm any decent person.

Now we take a look at a company that once was on the outskirts of this town. The Parkton Chemical Company did a lot of specialized work for different customers. It seemed that a magazine publisher had a brilliant idea. He worked out a magazine promotion idea which involved sending out a penny on a card. If you returned the penny with a dollar bill or check for that amount, you could get a year's subscription to the magazine at half price.

The problem was to attach the penny to the card. In those days they didn't have cellulose tape. He used a sticky kind of a tape. The idea was very successful. More that 150,000 sticky pennies were returned with subscription orders. But what to do with the sticky pennies? The banks refused to take them, and the United States Mint at Denver said the pennies would have to be cleaned before they could be returned.

So the Parkton Chemical Company was contacted and they agreed to clean the pennies. The bank loaned heavy canvas bags in which to transport the pennies. They were shipped by railroad freight and came into the local station after the local express office had been closed. So they remained in the baggage room.

One of the fellows, Jim, saw these bags delivered. He immediately contacted his two other friends and they made plans to steal what they figured was a tremendous fortune. They needed a car and a gun which somehow they obtained. I will skip all details of how the crime was committed. It has no bearing whatsoever to our main theme. They are now on the highway going at full speed. The police are notified and are in chase.

Let us take a look at Count Camponolo's theory: The gun should somehow object; the car used should object; the pennies stolen in the canvas bags should also object. Put the three "objectors" together and you can really have something weird happen.

It was a twenty-five mile chase and the fellow called Lou was at the wheel of the car. The police had been firing but no shots had been returned by the fleeing bandits. As they approached a bridge, they slowed down and Bob took careful aim with his gun. He pulled the trigger and there was an explosion as the gun back-fired. The driver then lost control of the wheel and the car went to the left and smashed through the bridge's guard rail.

The car turned over in mid-air several times. It landed on the stream below, erect. But something happened to those canvas bags. They opened and thousands of pennies were spilled out — all over the three men. From head to foot they were glued with pennies! The police found the men bruised, stunned and shocked.

They were taken to the local hospital and treated. Then they were indicted and tried on seven different counts. They pleaded guilty and were given the maximum terms as provided for by the law. There's your story, now use it."

I didn't say anything for several minutes. Captain Russell looked at me and wanted to know if anything was wrong.

"You are talking about Jim Burris, Lou Maron and Bob Alford," was all that I said as I forced the words out of my mouth.

You should have seen the look of amazement on Captain Russell's face. He was trying to figure what to say.

"It just can't be," he conceded. "That a person can have a memory like yours. Then you must have known about this weird story."

"Yes," I admitted. "But not in the way you probably figure. Do some calculations and you can figure I wasn't a reporter when it happened. There almost was a fourth fellow in that group. They wanted him to come along but refused to tell him what is was about. He said he planned to leave town and go to the big city for a job. He had no idea it was a robbery they had planned on doing.

He was walking near that bridge when it happened. So he saw all the details. Then he went to the nearest farmer's house and called the local newspaper and told them about the events. They sent out their big reporter to cover the story but they took this fellow's name and address.

Net result was that he remained in town and began working for the paper. He had never thought of the entire situation as anything unusual or weird."

Now there was a big smile on Captain Russell's face. He spoke to me.

"One other theory the Count had. I agree with it. That Honesty always paid. Didn't it pay with you — Dave?"

DR. JORDAN HEARD IT TOO...
WHAT IN BLAZES IS "EXGEN 40TH", ANYWAY, HAINES?
I DON'T KNOW... SOME CODE WORD, MAYBE... DO YOU FEEL THAT'S REAL ENGLISH SPOKEN?
I'M NOT SURE... IT SEEMS MORE LIKE I THOUGHT THE MESSAGE, NOT ACTUALLY HEARD IT!
I THINK WE OUGHT TO GO OVER AND SEE OLIVER AT THE NATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS BOARD.
I'LL GO WITH YOU!
BUT THE CHAIRMAN AT THE BOARD APPEARED MERELY AMUSED...
LOOK, HAINES... I HEAR THE MESSAGE BUT ISN'T THIS SOME PRACTICAL JOKE OF YOURS?
I SINCERELY THINK THIS DEVICE HAS PICKED UP A SECRET WAVELENGTH OF INVASION PLANS FROM A FOREIGN COUNTRY! NOW CAN YOU FIND WHERE ON EARTH IT ORIGINATES?

OUTER SPACE

HAINES, IF ANY OTHER RADIOS PICK UP THIS MESSAGE WE'LL INVESTIGATE, BUT NOT ON THE BASIS OF A... HA, HA, A HEARING DEVICE FOR THE DEAF! GOOD DAY, GENTLEMEN!
NOTHING TO IT, HE FEELS!
MAYBE IT'S SOME RADIO HAM PULLING A JOKE!
I CAN TEST IF IT'S IN ENGLISH... OR IF IT MIGHT BE... TELEPATHY!
HOW WOULD YOU DO THAT?
I'LL VISIT DR. LA BLANC... HE THINKS IN FRENCH BUT NOT ENGLISH... COME ON!
THIS MESSAGE... IT IS IN FRENCH -- NOT ENGLISH!
ANYBODY CAN UNDERSTAND IT NO MATTER WHAT THEIR TONGUE!
BUT WHERE DOES IT COME FROM? IS IT A MISTAKE WE HEAR IT, OR A WARNING?
WE SATURNIANS SHALL CONQUER NORTH AMERICA FIRST... AND THEN THE WHOLE PLANET!
YES, FOR TODAY IS EXGEN 40TH!
END
